

Finding new opportunities in Aerospace — Industry.

You develop, we make it fly. Enabler & accelerator.

The aerospace market offers long-term prospects for companies from different industries to establish themselves in the aerospace market or to expand their product portfolio. In both cases, the market entry also poses some challenges: existing regulations, safety standards and detailed performance and design requirements.

"make it fly" is an enabler and accelerator for your aerospace strategy. We provide end-to-end support through market analysis, our own organizational approvals for product testing & certification and a win-bringing network.

Strategy and engineering experts are the core of umlaut's "make it fly" team, representing a cross-section of umlaut's vast aerospace experience.
